BEST GENERAL INFORMATION

It has always been our policy to provide accurate and comprehensive directory service to those communities that desire the "finest". We realize however that some errors and omissions are inevitable and earnestly request that these be brought to our attention. These errors and omissions will be corrected in the next edition of the directory. It is only through the interest of the subscribers and users of the directory that each new edition can surpass the last.

In the public interest the use of this directory for any other purpose than as a reference volume or reproduction of any part of this directory is expressly prohibited without written permission from the publisher.

We are proud of our membership in the association of North American Directory Publishers. The members of this association are constantly striving to improve the products offered to the communities they serve. It is through the association's attitude of mutual sharing that many of the industries advancements have been made.

HISTORY

The Publisher gratefully acknowledges the effort made by the Scottsboro Area Chamber of Commerce in furnishing the following community statistics and information.

Scottsboro, Alabama A Touch of Mountain Lakes Magic

Robert T. Scott -- planter, tavern operator, newspaper editor, state legislator and land developer -- sought for years to have the Jackson County seat moved to his land and bear his name. He ultimately succeeded -- five years after his death in 1863.

Scottsboro's founder, who lived for a time in Madison County before moving on to greener pastures a few miles eastward, was born in the late 1700's (probably in 1789 in Virginia, according to W. Jerry Gistin "The Story of Scottsboro, Alabama", although another historian says it was in about 1798 in North Carolina).

In any case Scott is known to have moved as a child with his family to Raleigh, N. C., and lived there three years before the Scotts came in 1817 to Alabama, settling in Madison County. Along the way, young Scott studied law in Franklin, Tennessee.

In Madison County, Scott farmed successfully for some years and was elected to the Alabama House of Representatives in 1830 and re-elected in 1832.

He moved two years later to Bellefonte, the newly chosen Jackson County seat, where he bought a large farm that included a hotel-tavern. Operated by Scott and called Belle Tavern, it became a popular place for prominent social and political gatherings.

The planter and innkeeper, who also was editor of the Bellefonte Courier newspaper, wasted little time in re-entering politics. In 1836 Scott was again elected to the Alabama House -- this time as a Jackson County representative. He was re-elected in 1837, again in 1839, and was to serve the county four additional times, in the legislative sessions of 1842, 1844, 1847 and 1853.

Scott's election in 1839 was unique. In one year the people of Jackson County elected him to the legislature no fewer than four times.

The previous year he had been elected circuit clerk of the county, and when he appeared as a legislator in Tuscaloosa, then the State Capitol, the point was raised that he could not hold two offices at the same time. Scott was refused his seat in the House.

A new election was soon held in Jackson County, and again Scott was elected representative. Again he was refused at the legislature. A third election was held, with the same results. Scott was elected a fourth time, but by then the legislative session had ended.

He served in other governmental capacities as well. In 1842 Governor Benjamin Fitzpatrick appointed Scott as agent to help settle financial troubles stemming from the failure of the state bank, and during the administration of Governor Henry Collier (1849-1853), he was appointed to a commission called to adjust the disputed boundary line between Georgia and Alabama.

Scott also spent much time in Washington, D. C., where he assisted in prosecuting financial claims of the state for outlays made because of the Indian and Mexican Wars.

He retired from public life after the 1853 session of the legislature, except for serving as a delegate to the Democratic convention in Baltimore that nominated John C. Breckinridge for President.

In the early 1850's Scott decided to move to what today is Scottsboro. He erected a handsome residence on Backbone Ridge. After 1853 he devoted full time to the development of his expanding property. In 1856 he was able to exert pressure on the directors of the Memphis and Charleston Railroad to construct the rail line beside his property. The depot erected nearby was known as Sage Town, but the name was soon changed to Scott's Station.

From then until his death on June 18, 1862, Scott worked constantly to bring the county seat to this location. His widow persisted in the effort, and five years after Scott's death his heirs reached an agreement with the county government to do just that.

The site for the courthouse and jail in what by then had been renamed Scottsboro was deeded to Jackson County on the condition that it become the county seat. The agreement also called for the proceeds from the sale of alternate lots around the courthouse square to go to Scottsboro, with the rest of the proceeds going to the Scott heirs.

Thus, Robert Thomas Scott was able, in death, to gain the county seat he had long sought and to ensure the growth of the city named for him.

Jackson County

Jackson County, named for President Andrew Jackson, is located in the northeastern corner of Alabama, adjoining Tennessee and Georgia. Scottsboro is the county seat. The county is one of the largest in the State, its land area comprising 1,124 square miles.

Jackson County lies in the Cumberland Plateau section of the Appalachian Plateaus area of the State. Within the county, this section is further subdivided into three districts. The extreme eastern part of the county is in the Sand Mountain district. To the west of this, and lying in a northeast-southwest direction, is a narrow segment which falls within the Sequatchie Valley district. The remaining western and manor portion of the county lies within the Jackson County Mountains district.

The Tennessee River enters the northeastern corner of the county and flows in a southwesterly direction. Drainage runoff of the area east of the river is into creeks and branches flowing in a westerly direction into the Tennessee. From the north, the major of these streams are Dry Creek, Raccoon Creek, Bryan Creek, and South Sauty Creek. Runoff of the central major portion of the county west of the river is into creeks and branches flowing in a southeasterly direction into the Tennessee. Again from the north, the principal of these are Crow Creek, Mud Creek, Roseberry Creek and North Sauty Creek. Runoff of the remaining western part of the county is into Paint Rock River which flows south into the Tennessee. Land elevations in the county range from a low of 597 feet above sea level to a high of 1,319 feet.

Primarily the economy of Jackson County is industrial and agricultural. Several industries entered the county during the late 60's and 70's, but not to an extent sufficient to provide jobs for many who need them. The further advent of small or large industry in the county will tend to stabilize the present supply of labor.

GOOD BUSINESS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

If I possessed a shop or store
I'd drive the grouches off my floor.

I'd never let some gloomy guy
Offend the folks who come to buy
I'd never keep a boy or clerk
With mental toothache at his work.
Nor let a man who draws my pay
Drive customers of mine away.

I'd treat the man who takes my time
And spends a nickel or a dime
With courtesy, and make him feel
That I was pleased to close the deal,
Because tomorrow, who can tell,
He may want stuff I have to sell;
And in that case then glad he'll be
To spend his dollars all with me.

The reason people pass one door
To patronize another store, is
Not because the busier place
Has better silks or gloves or lace
Or cheaper prices, but it lies
In pleasant words and smiling eyes;
The only difference, I believe is
In the treatment folks receive.

It is good business to be fair
To keep a bright and cheerful air
About the place, and not to show
Your customers how much you know.

Whatever any patron did
I'd try to keep my temper hid, and
Never let him spread along
The word that I had done him wrong.

Central Bank
Your all day and Saturday bank.

We offer the same services on Saturday as we do on Friday. Which means that six days a week, we're the bank to see about commercial loans, consumer loans, savings accounts, trusts, checking accounts, and preferred loan rates for full-service customers. Also, six days a week, you can apply for VISA, Master Charge and American Express Gold credit cards, and senior citizens can join our Town Elders Club for free banking services. Whatever you're looking for in a bank, we have it. All day and Saturday.

Raquel Welch

"Every mother wants her children to grow up in a world without cancer."

"We all want that for our children. And it's not impossible.

"Today there are 1,500,000 Americans, cured of cancer and living normal lives. Research found ways to cure them.

"And research is working to find more cures. But that takes lots of money. The American Cancer Society needs your help to support research and its other lifesaving programs.

"What wouldn't you give for a world without cancer?"

"FOOD FOR THOUGHT"

So the squirrel said, "I don't like the nuts on this tree," and he moved on to another tree. That squirrel was a damned sight smarter than some people.

We figure that anyone who accepts a job and then spends his 8 hours a day complaining about the boss, or the situation, is really stupid. If he doesn't like it, why the hell doesn't he get out and find a tree he likes?

The Constitution says we're guaranteed the right to PURSUE life, liberty and happiness. Doesn't say a word about guaranteeing the cookie jar will be filled every morning. Filling it is up to the individual ... same as the squirrel.

Now, don't get us wrong. We're not furnishing every employer with a white hat. But he is providing the nuts we do get, and no one is standing there with a sword forcing us to accept this particular brand of nuts.

In short, we're an advocate of the old principle that says "If you work for a man, work for him," do all you can to make him succeed, for your future is tied to his success.

It's a pretty true statement, because if you goof him up, you'll kill the whole tree.

Then it'll be a nutless winter for sure!
