A real treasure that Blake has turned up in a database at Duke University. The Jackson County News from June 10, 1865. Before you look up the date for Appomattox, let me tell you, this newspaper published in Stevenson is three months after the end of the war and written by a carpetbagger named A. B. Condit, about whom I have not found any information yet. Here is the link to the newspaper. The stories in it are about setting up the carpetbagger government for the county. There is a proposed slate of county officers and news about free train rides to upcoming meetings in Scottsboro. The other article is offensive. It is about Averyville School in Stevenson, the school for former slaves set up after the Civil War, and the lack of schools for white children. <https://repository.duke.edu/dc/broadsides/bdsal30017>

Nov 18, 1909 PA: Politicians lectured at all existing schools in 1909 for passage of Alabama Constitutional Amendment 1909 that prohibited the “manufacture, sale and keeping for sale of alcoholic and malt liquors and other intoxicating beverages.” It was defeated 61% No, 39% Yes. Rev. Marion Briscoe spoke for the amendment at Stevenson School Nov 19, 1909.
