a town reminiscent of the past. This town, which is situated on the banks of the Tennessee River, is a spot that has long enticed settlers. From the Aborigines who dwelt in Russell Cave 8000 years ago to the wealth seekers of the late 1800's, Bridgeport's inhabitants have been a varied group.

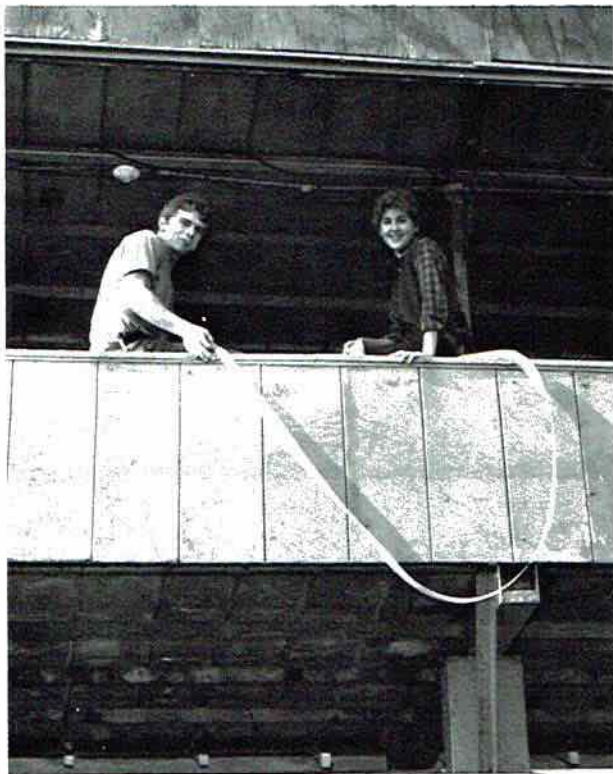

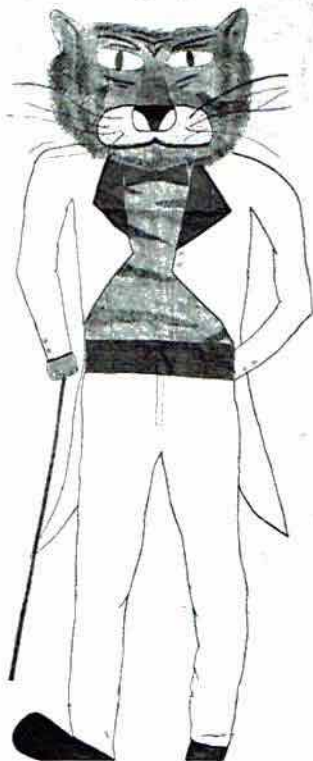

They have one thing in common, however; they all came to Bridgeport because it had so much to offer. The river which made the town not only beautiful but also practical for businesses, and, of course, the town's many natural resources have made Bridgeport a popular place to live.

Although Bridgeport has not had a large group of migrants for almost one hundred years, it is no less important to the people who live here. Many of the people in Bridgeport have lived here all their lives. These people's roots are here because, not only did they grow up here, but so did many of their parents and even their grandparents.

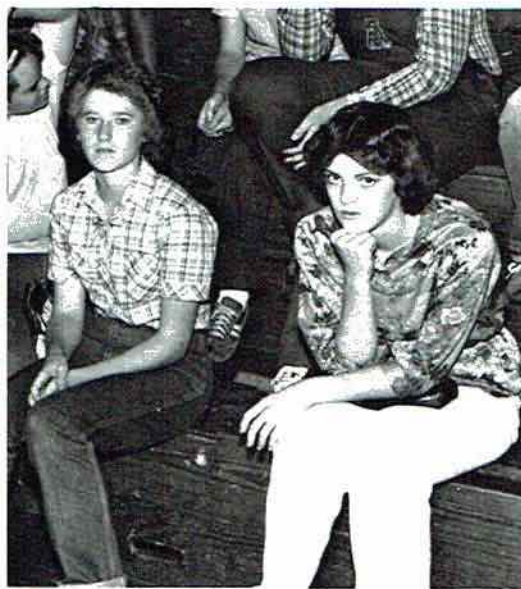

There is a feeling of togetherness which comes from lives shared. This togetherness is a part of our jobs, our neighborhoods, and especially our schools.

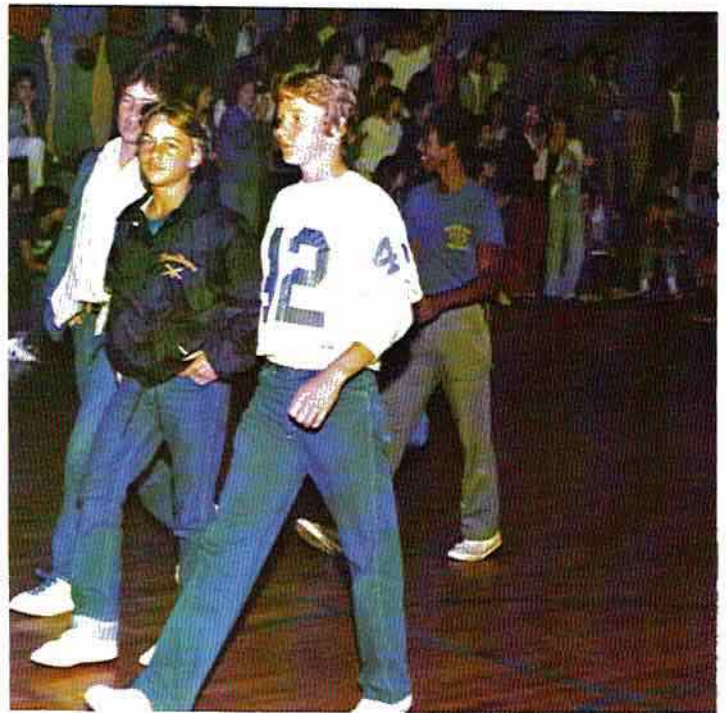

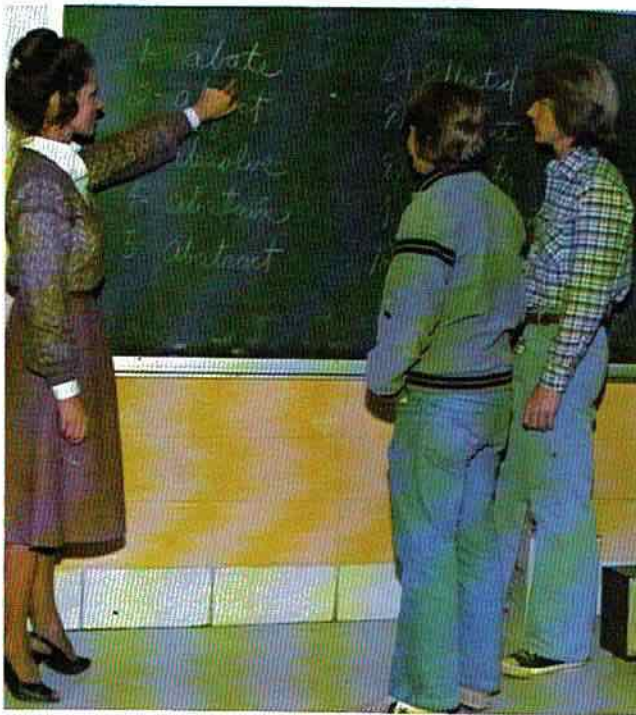

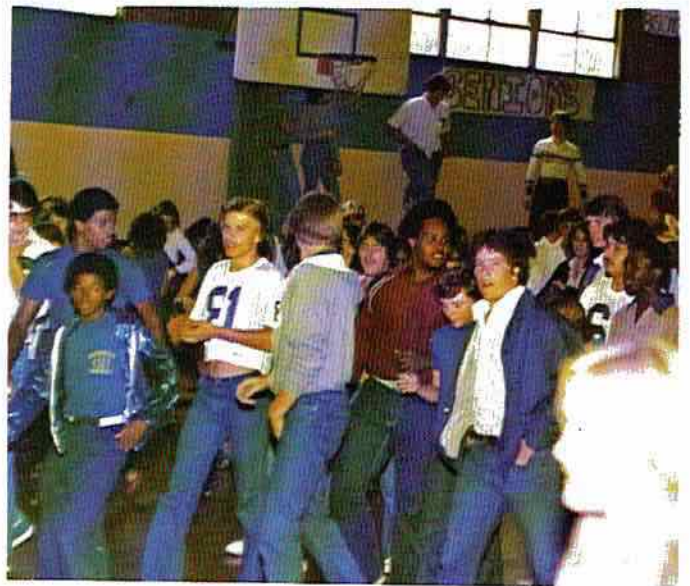

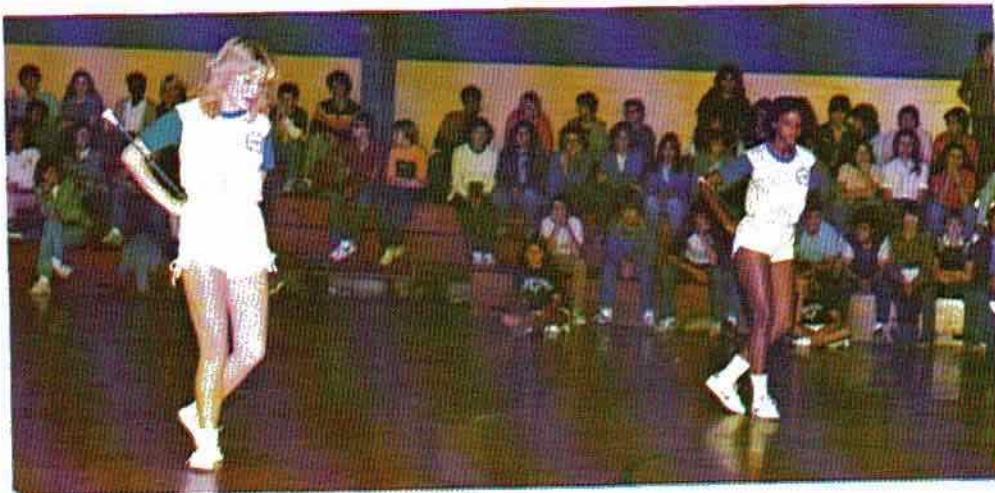

When one first sets foot into Bridgeport High School, he can feel the spirit of kinship present here. BHS is full of spirit from football pep rallies in the fall to the graduation exercises in the spring. Students at BHS are always busy doing something.

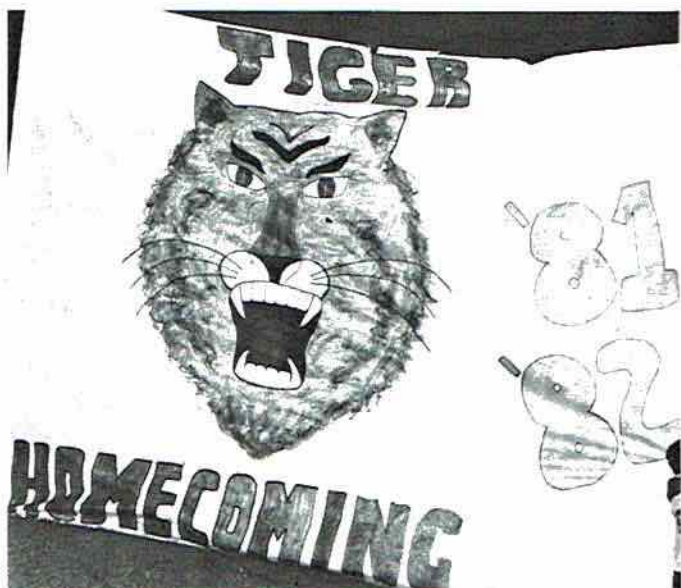

A student here may choose from our many clubs, athletic teams, or just hanging out with friends. All of these things bring the student body closer together.

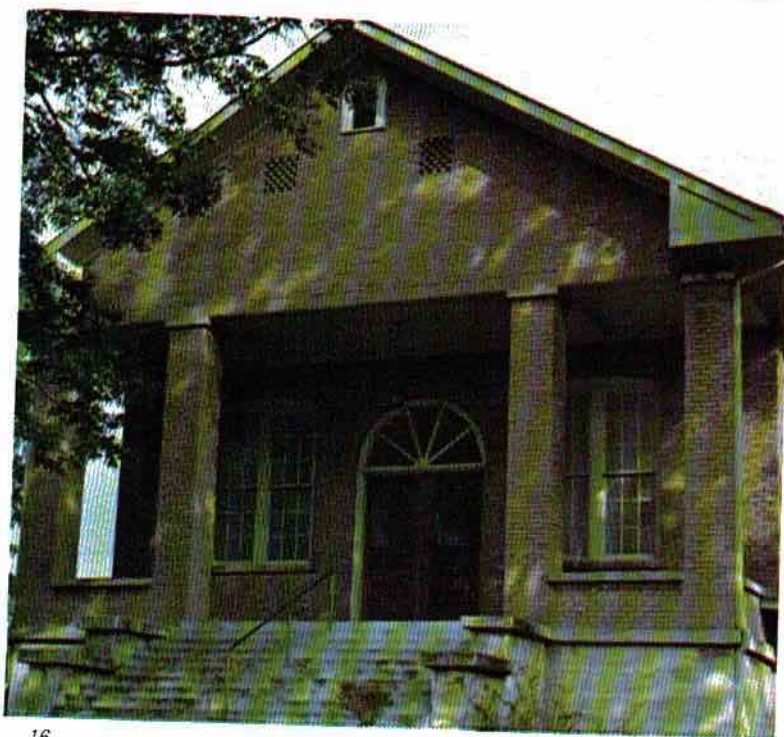

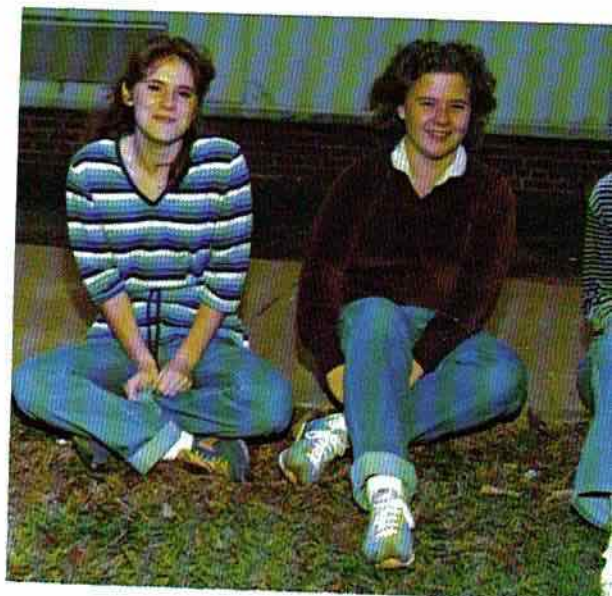

Not only are our clubs and sports important to us but they are also important to our community. At any event during our school year, there is a large gathering of townspeople.

FINAL ORGANIZATION OF JACKSON COUNTY

A commission was named to select a county seat and Woodville was chosen as the site. The Legislature of 1825 abolished Decatur County on the ground that it failed to meet constitutional requirements as to the territory included. As a result, that part of Marshall County north of the Tennessee River reverted to Jackson, and that part east of Flint River was added to Madison County.

That part of Jackson County lying east and south of the Tennessee River acquired from the Cherokee Indians by the New Echota Treaty of December 29, 1835, was added January 9, 1836. This completed the removal of the Cherokees from this area except a very few who were spared for particular reasons.

With the Indians removed, the state and county organized, valid titles to the land by the Federal Land Office, pioneer far country doubling and redoubling the population within a few years.

Jr.-Sr. Prom

The Jr.-Sr. Prom is always an event that is looked forward to for months and remembered for years. This year's prom was no different. The theme, Love Story, went along with the predominantly Southern plantation type setting. For one night, at least, we were able to live out our dreams in a magical, love-filled fantasy.

Band Banquet

The 1981-82 school year blessed BHS with an exceptional band. Each member did his best to make it a good year. At the closing of the school year, a band banquet was held in their honor. The theme of the banquet was Memories. At the banquet, Mr. Bowen, the band director, presented awards to outstanding band members. Each member received the recognition he deserved. After the banquet a dance, also in their honor, was held in the gym. It was a night filled with honor, pride, and memories.

All-Sports Banquet

The theme of this year's banquet was "Standing Tall, Looking Good." This described exactly what the Tigers had done all year. All deserving athletes were honored on this night. Presenting awards were Coaches Thomas, Rhodes, McCraw, Storey, and Blevins. This year's athletes were outstanding, led by an incredible senior squad. No matter the sport, no matter the opponent, the Tigers always came out on top.

NEVER SAY DIE

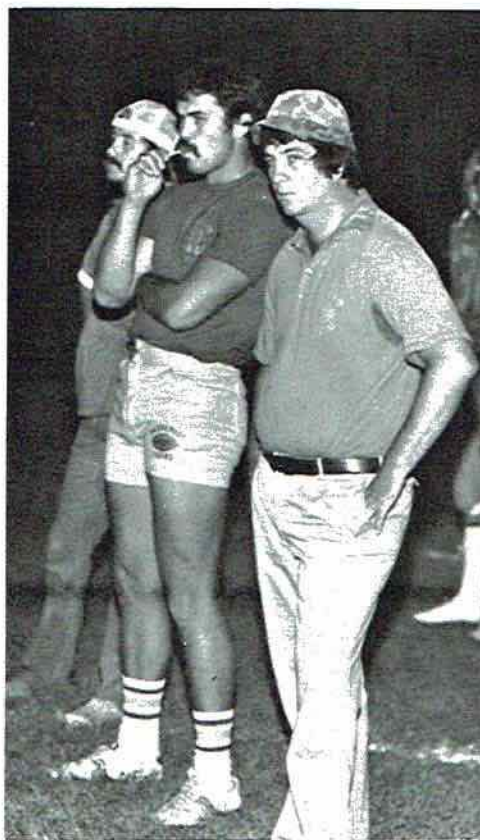

Tigers have been "standing Tall and Lookin' Good" since 1928, the year that Bridgeport High's first football team emerged. Led by Coach Walter Rudder, their record stood at 0-9-1. Although this seems an inauspicious beginning, they were a team that never quit and always tried their best, learning that winning is not as important as learning. This valuable lesson that teaches about life is the basis of Coach Jimmy Thomas's game plan. The 1981 football season was a successful one, the record standing at 8-2-0. Our team worked hard and never quit. This paid off in both a winning and a learning season, one that came heartbreakingly close to the state championship finals.

1981 TIGER FOOTBALL

Bridgeport had a successful season, riding high week after week. However, our hopes of a state championship were dashed away the night that we lost a tear-jerker to Stevenson. The Tigers had a great team, stocked with talent, leadership, and determination. The coaches and staff worked long and hard cultivating this team, and their efforts paid off.

We would like to recognize some of the people who helped to strengthen Tiger football: Mr. Johnny Henson, Mr. Dave Robinson, Mr. J. L. McCullum, Mr. Ronald Gamble, Wes Smith, and Dr. Frances Sox. These people deserve our thanks. We would also like to congratulate the team on a winning season. You brought the town to life and made this an exciting fall for everyone. The Tiger record this year is one to be proud of. Congratulations to all on a job well done.

SPIRIT LEADERS

"Two bits, four bits, six bits, a dollar . . ." echoes through the years from 1929 until the present. The cheerleaders have long been an established fixture dedicated and loyal to athletics at Bridgeport High School. The hardworking girls have many projects throughout the year; for example, they always seem to be selling candy bars, chances, and doughnuts. They go to summer camp, so they can represent B.H.S. as well as possible.

This year Bridgeport has a new mascot, Uno the Tiger, officially named at the pep rally on September 28. Beth Cagle has been fantastic, performing as Uno this year. She is a crowd pleaser, and everyone enjoys watching her antics on and off the field. Uno is the #1 Tiger.

The football team and school are proud of such a dedicated group.

JUNIOR HIGH GRIDIRON

The junior high cheerleaders work hard in preparing for their season every year. They help get the team's spirit up and plan activities for the team. They brave bad weather and hostile fans to perform at every game. They also cheer at varsity pep rallies. The junior cheerleaders have done a great job cheering their team on to a winning season.

Bridgeport has a fine junior high football team. Even though our team wears mis-matched uniforms and some have to share, they still find ways to overcome their lack of equipment and make up for it in spirit and determination. They have had a winning season this year with a record of 5-2. Coach Storey has worked really hard in cultivating these boys into good football players. The 1981 season ended excitingly with the county championship game being lost to Pisgah. During the 1970's Bridgeport teams won the county championship 8 years in a row. We are proud to have such a good junior high program.

Under the guidance of a new coach, Jim Blevins, the girls faced a rebuilding year. They have gained experience and look forward to a better season next year. The boys, with eight seniors on the team, fared better than the girls. Because of experienced players, a strong bench, and the leadership of Coach Storey, the Tigers had a victorious season. We were fortunate this year to have two players, Tyrone Robinson and Mary Sue Collins, on the News Free-Press All Tri-State Team and on the Sequatchie Valley Conference team.

When the basketball cheerleaders call for ACTION, they mean it. Each cheerleader is dedicated. She spends long hours on bus rides to and from games, practicing after school and cheering the tenacious Tigers on to victory. During this, the third year that the basketball team has had cheerleaders of its own, the Tigers are well represented in the new tradition. So when you hear the girls out there cheering, remember that they are working hard to produce ACTION.

The Junior Tigers have had a rough season. They are inexperienced, but as they mature, we know these Tigers will come on strong and put it together. This is a learning experience and a time to grow. Coach Rhodes and Coach Bain are very patient. These Tigers will turn out to be fine athletes. We are very proud of them.

BRIDGEPORT'S DIAMOND DAZZLERS

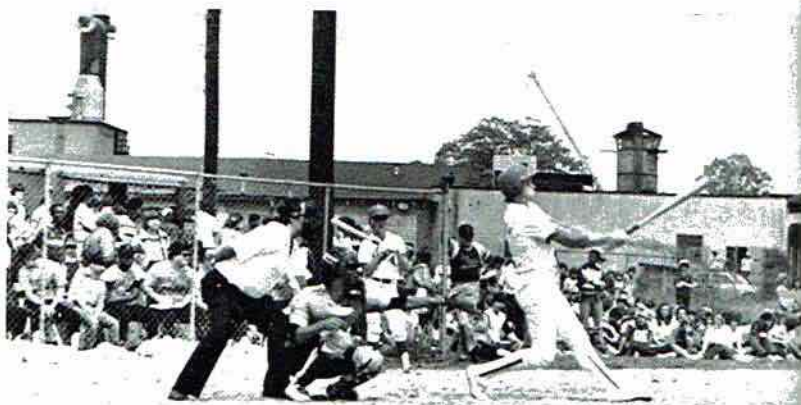

The 1981-82 Tiger-Jet baseball team had a good season. The team was young, led by three seniors. Coach Storey worked hard on playing defense. The Tiger-Jets had some pretty strong bats going to the plate for them this year. Everyone was flexible about where he played; many played three to four different positions. Our record stood at 8-7. In past years Bridgeport's teams have been outstanding, placing many players in the major leagues and on college campuses. Bridgeport is proud of its fine baseball teams.

Intense moment on the bench.

Bridgeport did well against their opponents this year. Bridgeport was rated highly as an all-around team. Scott Moss led in the strike-out column with 13 in one game. The Tiger-Jets also rated high in the base stealing column. All in all, Bridgeport had an excellent season. The scores don't show the whole game; Bridgeport played well but just came up on the short end of the stick. The team is young, all will be returning next year, with the exception of three. They will make a spunky, hard team to beat.

STUDENT LIFE IN AND OUT OF CLASS

"What are you doing after class?" If you asked 25 students at Bridgeport High School this question, you might get 25 different answers. The extracurricular activities that BHS students participate in are as varied as the students themselves. Every student has his own special talent, and the activities at Bridgeport High School are designed to help make students make the most of these talents. For those students who are interested in the arts, there are quite a few ways to express themselves. BHS boasts an award-winning concert chorus group. This year there has also been an art class sponsored by the Indian Education Program.

Students at BHS not only have interesting special classes but they also have fun as a school. Every Friday during football season is a day of tremendous school spirit. Students support their team by dressing up in a costume appropriate for the theme day. This year, as always, two favorite days were "Cowboy Day" and "Fifties Day."

The clubs here at BHS also sponsor many ways to bring the school closer together. Valentine's Day brought thoughts of romance to the school as the Student Council sold roses to students. The feeling grew when, that night, students attended a Valentine's Day Dance sponsored by the Annual Staff. Both the rose sale and the dance were successes and really helped to raise spirit at Bridgeport.

Later in the year, the "B" club's annual initiation was cause for excitement. To be eligible to join the "B" club, one must be an athlete, a cheerleader, a manager, or a scorekeeper. After meeting this requirement, students must undergo initiation. During initiation the "rats" or perspective members take orders from the "B" club members or "cats." They must also collect money for the sports banquet. This year initiation lasted two days and was fun for all involved.

When spring arrived, there was a day of celebration as well as competition at BHS. In March, the Bridgeport Student Council sponsored the second annual Spring Fling. Each class had a team which participated in games and contests. This year the eighth grade won with the seniors coming in second. The Student Council wasn't the only club with a part in this day. The Annual Staff was on hand serving funnel cakes which everyone agreed were as much fun to make as to eat.

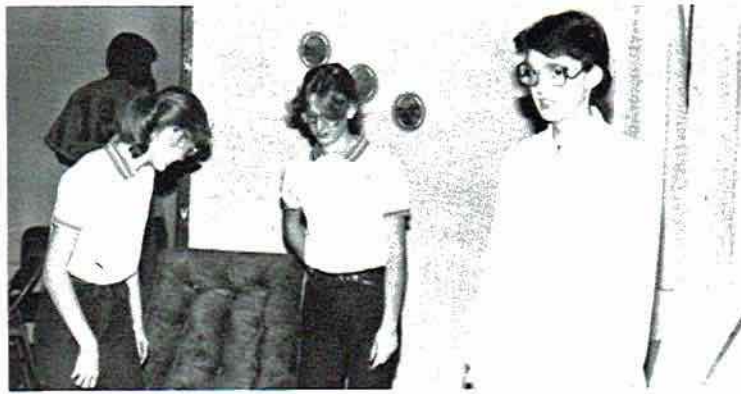

Another way clubs encourage students is through academics. One club which is based mostly on academics is the Beta Club. Students must have an above average grade point to become members. This year the Beta Club took on many new projects. This was also the first year this club had an initiation ceremony as well as a banquet. The candlelight initiation service was performed before the school and later that night, there was a banquet at The Hungry Fisherman.

Playing Around

No year at BHS would be complete without the Junior and Senior class plays. These plays are real high points of students' junior and senior years. Through these plays, students work hard to present entertainment to the school and community. This year's Junior play was "She Fainted Again" and the Senior play was "They Run in Our Family." Both these plays were greatly enjoyed by all who saw them as well as those who worked hard to make them successes.

The students at BHS are busy not only having fun but also trying to help the school. This year many projects have been done to benefit the school and students. Shown here is the Senior Class Christmas tree decoration and the renovation of the auditorium. Each year the Senior Class is in charge of cutting a tree and decorating it at Christmas. This project is fun and adds beauty to the school. This year the Student Council and Beta Club took on the project of painting the auditorium. Although the project was sponsored by these two clubs, many other students were involved in this service project.

Churches

The Methodist and Christian are the two largest church organizations that we have, both with spacious and comfortable church buildings where regular services are held under the pastoral leadership of Rev. T. B. Middlebrooks of the Methodist denomination, and R. W. Jernigan, of the Christian Church. The Baptists have a younger but growing congregation under the present pastorate of T. P. Dean. They have never owned a place of worship, but have had the use of the auditorium of the academy for their services. However, at the present time they are erecting a very attractive church building, a cut of which appears here, and when completed will be an honor to their organization and a credit to the city. The Episcopalians are the smallest church organization, yet with the finest and most substantial church building. This building is entirely of stone and occupies a prominent corner, but unfortunately, owing to

Three new members were appointed to the Industrial Development Board at the Bridgeport November 3 council meeting. New members are: Warren Witcher, Clyde Raulston, and David Troy. Other members of the board are: Jim Freeman, John Roe, Loyd McCollum, Edna Holt, John T. Hughes, Buddy Jacobs, Bill Payne, Bill Merritt, Jr., Lewis Payne, Shorty Galovitch, James Russell Lee Robinson and Wayne

The council also discussed an insurance policy for the city. No decision was reached since they need some quotes from more insurance companies. The council would like to get all insurance premiums due at one time instead of separate times. Bids for the removal of 3,000 cubic yards of dirt from the boat dock have also opened Monday. Work has been done on the dock, but the hill is too steep to get in or out without a boat. More dirt will have to be removed. Bids on the project were as follows: Earthmovers, Inc. of South Pittsburg, Tenn. $3,240; Lambert Construction of Sand Mountain, $5,870.

*The Annual Staff is a group of hard working individuals who work hard all year to produce an annual which reflects the life of students at Bridgeport High School, an annual which preserves memories of the school year. From selling ads to raise money for the Tiger, to taking pictures and preparing and organizing the annual for shipment to the publisher, annual staff members are faced with hard work and decisions. The Beta Club is an organization that recognizes the outstanding academic students at Bridgeport High School. Prospective members are invited into the club during the second semester of their sophomore year. To maintain their Beta Club membership, students must study hard to uphold a 3.5 average. Besides representing BHS academically, the Beta Club has activities like sponsoring the school newspaper.

The B Club recognizes the athletically minded students at Bridgeport High School. Students are invited to join after lettering in a varsity sport. To become a member one must go through a tough initiation as a "rat" under the "cruel" leadership of a present member "cat". If someone can make it through the initiation as a rat, he or she becomes a cat the following year and that's where the fun of the B Club really begins.

EXTRA! EXTRA!

The Blue and Gold paper staff can often be found distributing copies of the paper to prospective student buyers at one of the breaks during the busy days at Bridgeport High School. The staff members work very hard to produce a source of imaginative, creative, and informative enjoyment that is available for the students' benefit.

This is the motto for the Drivers' Safety Club here at Bridgeport High School. The club members maintain a variety of activities to raise money to promote the club, which in turn promotes the idea of safety while driving, not only to students at the high school, but also elementary students.

The Library Club consists of students that work in the library for the school's benefit. They check books out for other students, arrange returned books back on the shelves, and process new books for the library. The Student Council is an organization which allows students to convey their feelings about school operations and school activities to the teachers. Home-room representatives, elected by the students, provide a basis for the communication of teachers and students. The Student Council also has fundraising drives, profits from which are used for such school activities as the annual BHS Coronation and beautification projects for the school.

When not marching many band members also participate in the Concert Band. Future band members are just starting to learn in the Beginner Band. In addition to its many duties, the band also inspires extracurricular activities such as the Chorus Group.

A teacher's job is never done

One of the greatest assets of Bridgeport High School is our teaching staff. The faculty here cares not only about students' minds but also about their thoughts and feelings. Teachers spend seven hours a day in the classroom, yet most are never too busy to talk to students. Along with their classes the teachers have other responsibilities such as selling tickets at ballgames, monitoring the halls, and sponsoring extracurricular activities.

LITERARY SOCIETY
 The honor attached to the graduating class of 1924, because of its being the first to finish at the Bridgeport High school will be fully appreciated by those who follow after us.
 This all-important class existed in the ranks of high school by way of our Bridgeport grammar school in 1920 A. D.
 In spite of the fact that our dear professor of our first year was kind and lenient the new subjects so strange to us were like Chinese puzzles and had it not been for his patience, we would never have mastered such important subjects as algebra and Latin in our first year.
 The fruits from the tree of knowledge were not so our second attempts. So being helped on by our love for one hand and handicapped by our abhorrence for all other, we studied from early fall until late spring and our credits.

NOTES OF THE CLUB

New Committees Appointed at Meeting Wednesday, May 22.

The City Beautiful Club met May 22nd in the Sunday School room of the Christian Church with the president, Mrs. Jones, in the chair.

'Twas the time for the appointment of new committees, each having served two months. The president after appointing the new committees, spoke very nicely indeed of the splendid work done by the retiring committee and urged that new ones be just as vigilant.

Wednesday of this week was the day named for cleaning up the groves around the Christian Church and College, but was postponed on account of the heavy rain Tuesday night. Another date will be appointed for this work at the next meeting of the Club and all club members and friends are invited to come and help with this good work and enjoy basket dinner with the ladies.

The Club will meet next Wednesday afternoon, June 5th, 1911, in the Sunday School of the Christian church. Attendance is desired.

All read an excellent paper 'Environment' and have consented to give it to the Picnic Programme.

Following is the programme of the picnic to be held at Bryant's Chapel on Saturday, July 15th:

The fruits from the tree of knowledge were not so hard to gather on a second attempt. So being helped on by our love for ancient history on hand and handicapped by our abhorrence for all mathematics on the other, we studied from early fall until late spring and came out with half credits.

Thus encouraged, we began our third raid on "General Ignorance." It seemed the year of "the reason why," for physics upset all our old ideas, and taught us to take nothing for granted.

During our four years sojourn many of our dearest and best fellow-workers have dropped by the wayside. Some have fallen at Dan Cupid's feet and embarked on the troubled sea of matrimony and others have left their fortune without the aid of a diploma. We, who remain may be quite a bunch of heroes for we have closed our ears to all but the call of duty.

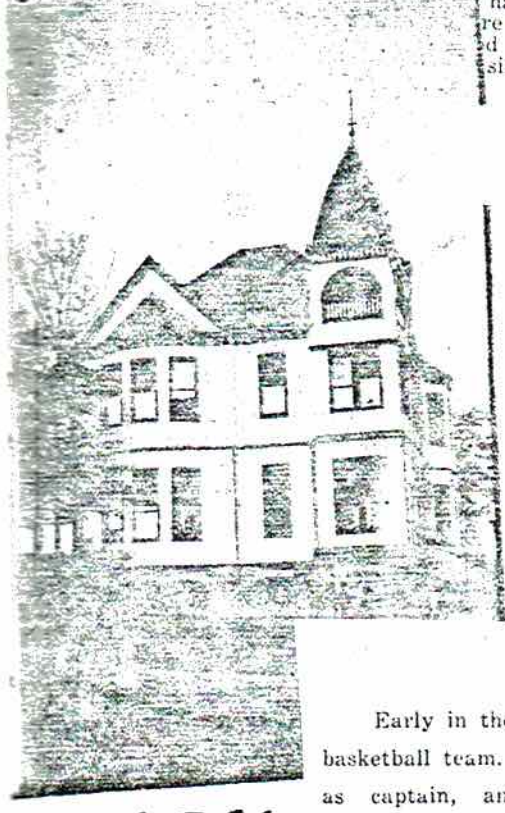

Last year of all, ending this strange, eventful history, found us with hand still to the plowshare. Here we have worked hardest and endeavored to finish all things left undone and to make our last year our best. We have succeeded and never before, did we so hate to be comforted by the thought that while we shall not be as good as we were at our business and social world.

In and Around Bridgeport With the Senior Superlatives

During 1889 Bridgeport experienced its biggest growth spurt. Following a report on the great potential of this area, many investors and workers moved into this town. With this large growth in population came a great need for housing. The problem was solved by the construction of many large houses on Battery Hill, about half a mile from downtown Bridgeport. The houses on Battery Hill were centrally located between the railroad, the river, and town, making it a convenient residence for all types of workers. Shown on the following pages are some of our Senior Superlatives at various locations on Battery Hill.

More Senior Superlatives

The rest of our Superlatives are shown on these two pages at other places around town. The town of Bridgeport has many beautiful landmarks. Shown in these pictures are some of our Superlatives by the railroad tracks and the depot. The railroad was one of the greatest influences on the growth of our town, and it continues to be an important part of Bridgeport. Also shown is the overpass with a view of Kilpatrick Row in the background. The houses on Kilpatrick Row, designed by New York architect Stanford White, were built at the same time as those on Battery Hill.

HONOR SCHOLARS

The term Honor Scholar is a new one at Bridgeport. For many years, BHS has recognized the students with the top ten academic averages in their Senior Class. This year's Senior Class, however, was an exception. This year thirteen students had A averages. For this reason, the Class of 1982 has thirteen Honor Scholars. We are certainly proud of these seniors who have worked so hard to maintain these outstanding averages.

GRADUATION OR COMMENCEMENT?

On May 27, 1982, this year's senior class of 57 students walked across the Bridgeport High School auditorium stage to receive diplomas. For all it was a graduation from high school. All the work and struggle had finally paid off. However, this night, the seniors were to take their place in the community as useful citizens. For this reason, there were many mixed emotions. For all there was the sadness of high school days ended, yet there was also a great feeling of expectation about the future and what it holds.

UNITED WE STAND ...

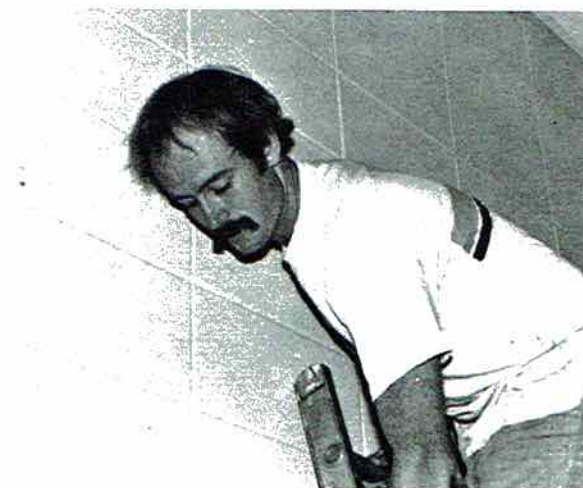

The students of BHS have worked together to make the 1981-82 school year what we feel is a great success. We have stuck together and helped each other out in the tradition of past classes. We helped each other over the hard times, like initiation or an especially hard class, and we cheered each other in each victory whether in class, on the playing field, or on stage.

MOVING ON AND UP

The excitement which was felt at each triumph was strong because each student felt involved. We as a school, however, cannot stand on past victories. We must move onward to even greater times, and we must always strive to do our best. If we do our best, we can look back just as other classes have and say, "These were some of the best years of our lives."

Almost all of the lower floor of the Whitecher building, one of the largest in Bridgeport, is filled with merchandise, comprising groceries, dry goods, dress goods, clothing, shoes, hats, caps, queensware, hardware, farming implements, etc. The building is a modern structure, a model of convenience, and makes one of the handsomest stores to be found in any town the size of Bridgeport.

While this store enjoys a splendid city patronage, they have always catered to their country friends, and as a result a large business has been obtained from the farmers of this section. Conservative methods and fair treatment has been the policy of the firm all the way through, and the people in general appreciate this fact and have shown it by their liberal patronage.

When you have achieved success and look back over the yesteryears, may this book, in which we have tried to present student life in its entirety, bring to mind the sweet memories of your youth and high school days. If we can help you live again these by-gone days, we have accomplished our purpose and our efforts will not have been in vain.

We realize that without the support of the community, the TIGER this year would not have been possible. The community has graciously cooperated with us, and we wish to thank you.
