Returning from a tour through Arabia and French Morocco, we, Jimmie Welborn and Ruby Tigue, find the engraved invitation, requesting our presence at the Homecoming at Section. We wire our acceptance. The year is now 1976 and as we think about the good ole' days at S.H.S. we are very impatient as we wait at the airport for the plane. This plane will take us directly to the airport in the suburbs of Section. Finally we see our plane come in for a landing. Collecting our luggage, we leave the building and board the plane.

Soon we are roaring through the silvery clouds on our way "back home." To our surprise, the airline hostess is Wanda Staton, a former classmate. She tells us that she teaches a special class, three nights a week, for Airline Hostesses at the new high school at Section. When she is not teaching she is doing her run work for T.W.A. She has just returned from a tour of South Africa.

After we had ridden for hours, the plane landed and we stepped out into the exhilarating mountain air, Max Buff, the Mayor of Section, met us at the airport. Escorting us to his chauffeur-driven limousine, he carried us to the fabulous Mountain View Hotel owned by Jimmie Sue Puckett and Louise Gillispie.

Having refreshed ourselves with their reviving drink, Louise "Left"; we decided to tour the city and look for some of our old friends. We came in view of the new housing project and there we met our old friend and class favorite in the good ole' days. It was none other than Betty Mitchell whose slogan had always been, "They're Cheaper by The Dozen," with her 12 lovely children. She told us that she had frequent feuds with her next door neighbor, Bobbie Wilborn, whose cats chased her dogs and children. We said good-bye to her and jay-walked across the street. When we were half-way across, we were hailed by a figure in the blue uniform of a traffic cop. It was the gruff but familiar voice of Buddy McKenzie. He chatted for a moment then advised us to visit the new roller rink just across the corner. We took his advice and entered through a door with a sign which read "Have a Bunch of Fun at Bunch's Roller Rink." We were greeted with enthusiasm by co-owners Phyllis Thomas and Carlos Bunch. They told us the latest gossip about the local playboy W. L. Wilson. He was off to Hawaii and was still breaking all the girls' hearts from Paris to Iceland. They also told us to be on the look-out for the town bootlegger Billy Joe Reed. He also owned the local casino and when he had an hour to spare, built fences. We left them and went our merry way again. While waiting for a red light, we were almost struck by a yellow Cadillac convertible equipped with jet propulsion, which came screeching to a stop at the curb. In it were the mink and diamond clad figures of divorcees, Jeanette Griffith and Edith Smalley.

They offered to show us around town in style and since we had layers of blisters and corns already, we agreed. Their chauffeur drove directly to their jointly owned night club. We saw that handsome Jackie Dukes who had his South American orchestra there on a two-week engagement. As we were sitting there enjoying ourselves, Jeanette, Edith, and their lawyer, Billy Culpepper, became involved in a terrific argument about their financial status, so we left.

Leaving there, we wound our way through the shady suburban streets to the quiet zone of the new Section Hospital. We went inside and found that the head nurses were Nello Mae Knopps and Nancy Blevins. They told us that the head surgeon was Pete White, "lab-wrecker" in the good ole days of 55-56. He had just devised a new way to put patients to sleep with his supersonic X-ray vision.

We left the hospital and after walking a few more blocks, came in view of a beautiful building with a neat campus, and a number of low rambling buildings. It was the S.H.S., very different from 20 years before. At the top of the wide-curving steps, Jimmy Clyde Roden, the principal, met us and led us into the hallway. We visited the ten-thousand book library, headed by Shirley Harper. We learned that she had just married her fifth husband. The chemistry teacher was former Margaret Sparks, whose new fully equipped lab was neat as a pin except for the smoke and vapor pouring from the numerous test tubes. We fought our way through the haze and in the hall met former Bob Jones, a housewife, who was chairman of the local P.T.A. She kept sighing and lamenting about the local young people and that this isn't like the good ole' days when the girls were lady-like and weren't always taking off for a trip to the nearest town in their jet-propelled helicopters leaving her to the next victim. We stopped in the hall to chat with Syble Wilson, owner of the Section OIL Refinery. She told us that she started out as a bookkeeper in the company and ended up being the owner. Of course, she married the boss, as is the usual procedure. She told us that Dr. Boyd Brown has a dental office and manages his farm in his spare time. His nurse, Hazel Lingerfelt, was in Reno getting rid of her sixth mistake.

By the time we visited the rest of the school it was time to dress for the homecoming banquet, and as we had to leave before the banquet was over, we knew that this was the time to say our final good-byes. That night after the banquet was over and we were on our way home, we thought once again of the old days and knew we would cherish these last memories during the years to come.

We, the Seniors of S.H.S., being of (in) sane mind and sound body declare this our Last Will and Testament.

We, the Senior of S.H.S., leave to the faculty our sincere thanks and appreciation for the wonderful patience and guidance they have given us.

To Mr. Buford we leave our undying gratitude for his expert counseling over the year.

To the school we leave our love and devotion.

To the Juniors we leave our position as "dignified (?) Seniors" and the Prologue to the Canterbury Tales; individually we do humbly and solemnly bequeath:

I, Carlos Bunch, leave my love for the skating rink to Doris Lands.

I, Pete White, will my wit and teacher disturbance to Richard Long.

We, Billy Joe Reed and Aubrey McKenzie leave our "fence building" to James Albert Robbins and anyone else who hasn't enough fences.

I, W. L. Wilson, leave with my good looks to go to greener pastures.

I, Boyd Brown, leave my big feet and tall stature to Jimmy Haynes, who needs them.

I, Jimmy Clyde Roden, leave my basketball ability to Stanford Nix.

I, Jimmie Sue Puckett, leave my red hair and freckles to Georgia Mae McGee.

I, Edith Smalley, leave my giggles to Linda Lou Thomas.

I, Franklin Myers, leave my grumbling to Alta Faye Robbins.

I, Nancy Blevins, leave my neat appearance to Sue Johns.

I, Louise Gillispie, leave my helpfulness and devotion to friends to John Haynes.

I, Jeanette Griffith, leave my light hair and fair complexion to Pearl Rae Dukes.

We, Hazel Lingerfelt and Shirley Harper, leave our quiet manner and soft speech to Jerry Ziegler and Carter Mays.

I, Barbara Jones, leave my knowledge of outside information to Lajoy Lassatter.

I, Nello Mae Knopps, leave my love for service boys to Shirley Gillispie.

I, Betty Mitchell, leave my never ceasing smile and friendliness to Patsy Ann Patterson.

I, Margaret Sparks, leave all my boyfriends to Joy Lambert.

I, Wanda Staton, leave my sparkling eyes to Jewel Patterson.

I, Rubye Tigie, leave my cute freckles and long pretty hair to Paula Ann Reed.

We, Phyllis Thomas and Shirley Townson, leave our beautiful blond hair to Nava Jo Reynolds.

I, Jimmie Welborn, leave my position as head of the undercover gang to anyone under informed.

I, Bobbie Wilborn, leave my Florida vacations to Bobby Downey and Clomer Holloway.

We, Syble Wilson and Billy Gene Culpepper, leave our "Readers Digest" reports to Kay Wilson.

We, Jackie Dukes and Delmus Patterson, leave our love for a good time to Willard Townson and Wilma Jones.

I, Max Buff, leave.
