Dedication

We, The Senior Class of 1963, wish to thank our sponsor, Miss Virginia Skelton, by dedicating to her this, The 1963 Panther.

She has taught us lessons impossible to learn in textbooks alone. She has always worked with a sense of honesty and fair play.

It is with a great deal of appreciation and gratitude that we attribute her with this honor.

Appreciation

We, the members of The Senior Class, wish to express our appreciation to Mr. L. H. York and his wife, Mrs. York, for their untiring efforts to make this year a most successful year for we seniors, and to make our school a better place in which to learn.

Although this is their first year to be with us, we have learned to love and appreciate them greatly.

We hope their success and happiness here at Woodville High School will be unlimited.

Principal's Message

GREETINGS

As each of us grow older, I am sure we will use this year's Panther as a key to wonderful memories at dear "ole W. H. S." We will remember our obstacles, our accomplishments, and our happiness pictured within the pages of the Panther.

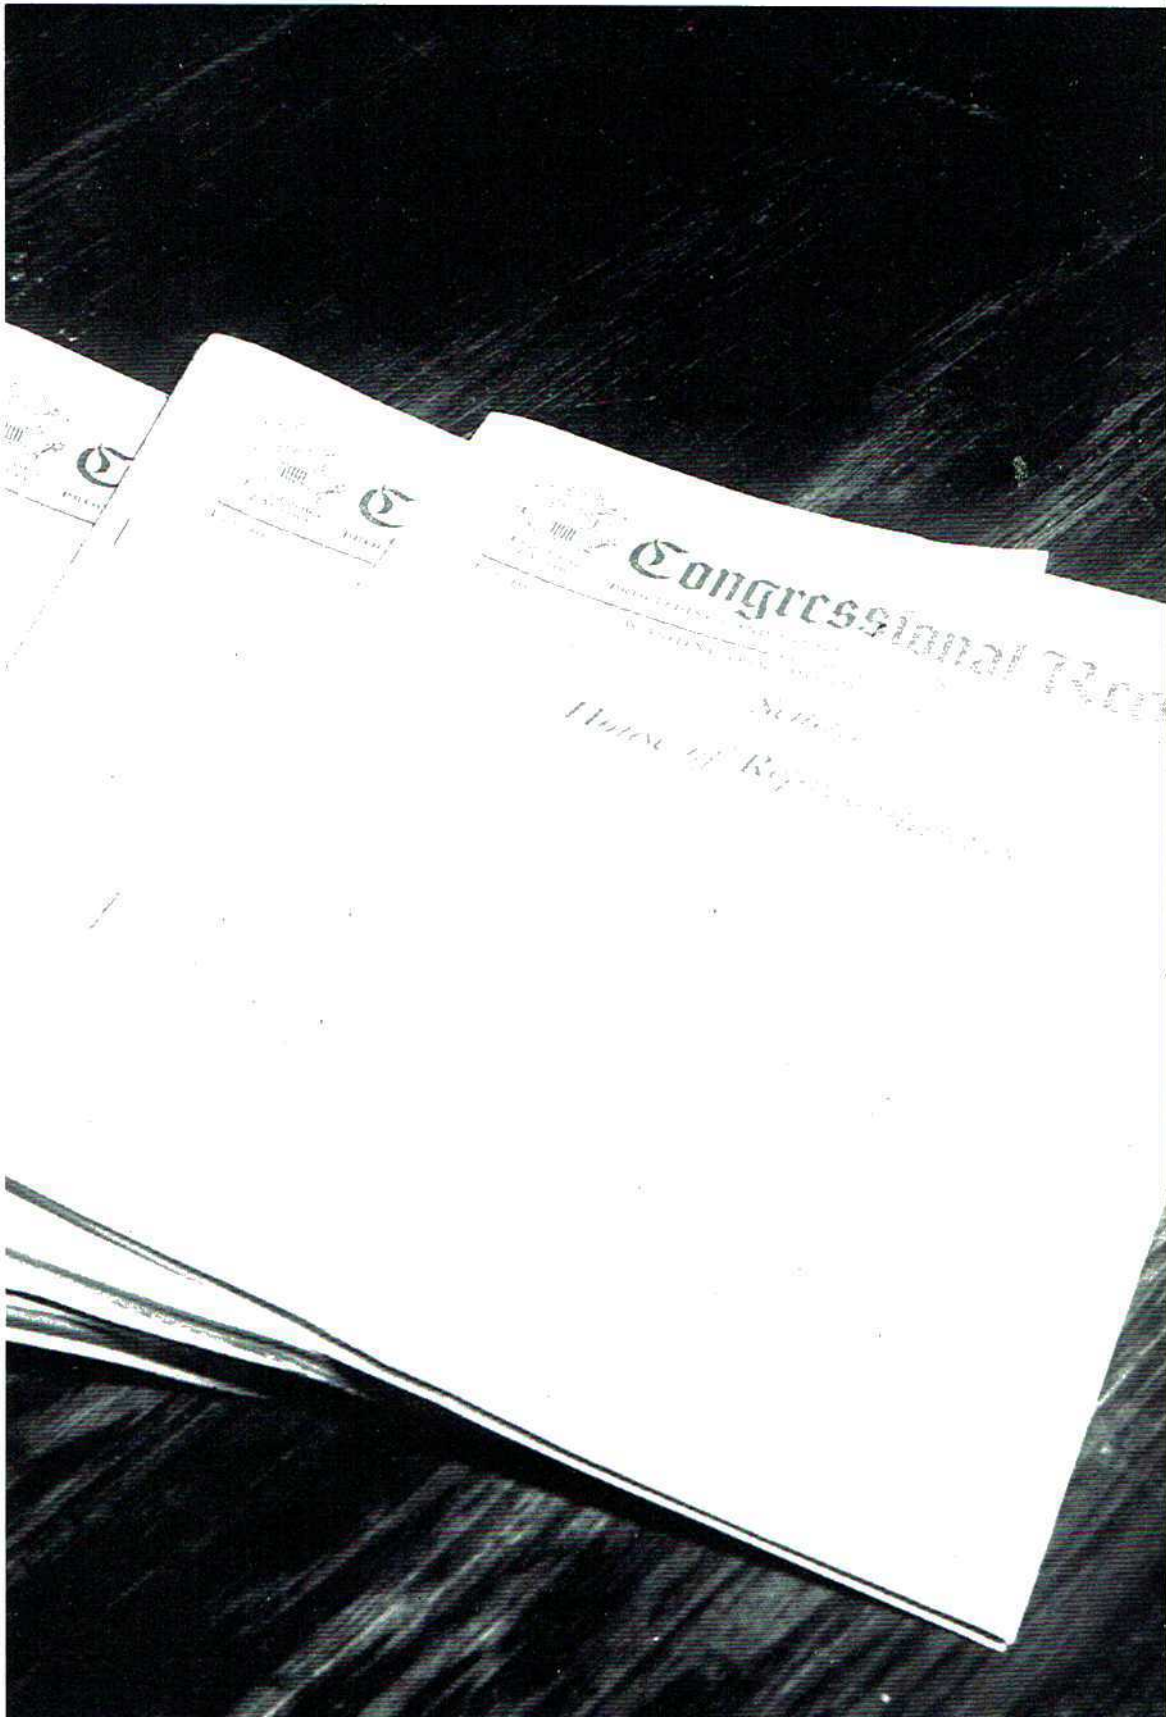

We should always remember the untiring efforts, the team work, and the cooperation of our sponsor and our annual staff. May I express my gratitude to them, to the seniors, to the faculty, and to all of you for everything you are doing to make Woodville High School a happy, successful school.

May we all remember that "Goodness is the only investment that never fails."

Class Prophecy

"For I dipped into the future, far as human eye can see, saw the class of 63, a decade hence, and what they all shall be."

First I see Joyce Brown as a "professional talker" who holds the world record. I see that Jean Cain with her trim figure has become one of New York's top fashion models.

Stanley Keller can now afford a Cadillac because his business in South Pittsburgh is a very profitable one.

I see Pat Helms as a marriage counselor speaking to newlyweds on the subject, "Marriage Is a 50-50 Affair."

Lonnie Bellomy is now a famous dog trainer; his specialty is bulldogs.

Delena Hall is a busy housewife, but she still finds time to serve as an advisor to the McCall's Fashion Board.

Charles Ritchie is doing well as an artist. He invests his earnings in chicken farms.

Bonnie Clements who is married serves as substitute shorthand teacher at Woodville High School.

Glenda Hodges is quite busy as top saleslady at Macy's in New York; she still has time to look for a husband though.

I see James Short as the only bachelor in our class, not because he hasn't had a chance to marry. James is still a "romeo."

Judy Hodges has now taken Arthur Murray's place as number one dance instructor.

Una Arnold is working as head fashion designer for one of Hollywood's leading women's stores.

Bobby Wells is now a chewing gum sampler for the Juicy Fruit Company.

Next, I see Joyce Sparkman speaking to thousands of lonely women on "How to be Happy Without a Man."

Rayford Latham is now the owner of a circus whose main attraction is bears.

Skyline Dramatic Playhouse now has one of the world's best known voice coaches, Patsy Dean.

I see that Billy Hall is now head coach at the University of Ala.

Linda Butler's tenor voice was discovered by Lawrence Welk, and she now sings in the Broadway musical, "Shoo Fly, Shoo."

I see an attractive housewife kept busy by her twin daughters. Sue Sharpe certainly is an efficient mother.

A June bride descends the steps of a Woodville church. Ina Cobb finally made it to the altar.

Donald McLaughlin is now a boxer who holds the lightweight championship.

Linda Gray is now a well-known poetess. Her most publicized work is a poem entitled, "I Wish I Were Single Again."

I see Jimmie Ruth Smith as a famous concert pianist performing at Carnegie Hall with one of the world's most talented violin players, June Rousseau.

Joyce Shavers is now a teacher of social graces, her young daughter being her star pupil.

Cont.

I see Lorene James assisting her husband on their 20,000 acre farm in California.

Who is this the Mexicans call "Pedro"? I do believe it is Lige Saint who lives in a secluded hacienda in New Mexico.

I see a cute airline stewardess flirting with all the eligible bachelors. Joan Hall hasn't changed very much.

The Aspel city-council is meeting and I hear a voice addressing Chairman Pace; Harold, as we all know him.

I see Mary Louise Frazier presiding over a meeting of "The Old Maids of America" with another member of our class, Paulette Sparkman, serving as secretary.

I see a beatnik in Greenwich Village teaching the lingo to other beatniks. Joe Hass was always interested in odd languages.

Margaret Lusk is earning a nice living from her drive-in cafe in Boxes Cove.

Bertha Harrison is devoting her time to the youth of Skyline. She is manager of the entertainment center, Bertha's Hop.

All is quiet in the city of Limrock since the mayor, Achl Gentle, appointed Stanley Hooper chief of police.

A lady racer comes whizzing by, close behind a male driver. Janet Manning was always after some man.

Betty Wright is now a highly paid home economics teacher at Larkinsville High School.

I see that Martin Allen lives in a luxurious apartment in New York. He can afford it; he is making millions from his book, "Fools Are Forever Talking."

Next I see Clarence Sharp, Jr., as the owner of a supermarket in Huntsville specializing in vegetables grown on his farm on Cumberland Mountain.

Who is that dignified young man lecturing on "How To Become a Better Parent"? I do believe it is Larry Hicks accompanied by his wife and eight children.

And last, I see myself, Glynda Hastings, as a special agent for the F. B. I.

Last Will and Testament

We, the following members of the senior class do hereby bequeath the following items to the members of the junior class.

I, Bertha Harrison, will my ability to break engagements to Shirley Hall.

I, Judy Hodges, will my ability to cheer for D.A.R. at the basketball games to Betty Stewart.

I, Charles Ritchie, will my grease gun and sewing machine to J. L. Ritchie.

We, Billy and Delena Hall, leave our ability to get married to Wynola Elkins and Ray Sanders.

We, Stanley Hooper and Achl Gentle, will our love for court orders and water-melons to Donald Holt.

I, Joyce Brown, will my ability to twist to Hilda Hall.

We, Jean Cain and Paulette Sparkman, will our quiet ways to Mary Dean.

I, Stanley Keller, will my husky pants to Raymond McAllister.

We, Mary Frazier and Bonnie Clements, will our height to Carol Kennamer.

We, Larry Hicks and Harold Pace, leave our ability to make the girls swoon to Calvin Kennedy.

We, Pat Helms and Linda Gray, will our love for one certain boy to Patricia Selvage.

We, Lorene James, Betty Wright, and Margaret Lusk, leave our seats in the back of the room to Iva June Reeves.

We, Martin Allen and Bobby Wells, leave our quiet ways to Kenny McLaughlin.

I, Lonnie Bellomy, will my ability to play basketball to Bruce Hodges.

Cont.

We, Sue Sharpe and Glynda Hastings, leave our ability to talk and giggle in all of the classes to Margaret Hall.

I, Jean Cobb, will my ability to never get to go with the boy I really want to Christine Paradise.

I, Joyce Shavers, will my wild hair style to Ella Mae Nash.

I, Joyce Sparkman, will my D's in P.E. to Panzy Jackson.

I, Una Arnold, will my big smile for the boys to Susie Sims.

I, Clarence Sharpe, will my ability to tease and aggravate to Jerry Page.

I, Lige Saint, leave my special typewriter in typing class to Brenda Washburn.

I, Don McLaughlin, leave my muscles to Larry Sparkman.

I, James Short, will my love for younger girls to Bobby Stewart.

I, June Rousseau, will my ability to play the violin to Jerry West.

I, Linda Butler, will my love for trips to Grant Mountain to Glenda Cameron.

I, Janet Manning, will my ability to get around to Pete Artis.

I, Rayford Latham, will my ability to flirt to Jimmy Page.

I, Jimmy Smith, will my ability to play the piano like Jerry Lee Lewis to Joyce Johnston.

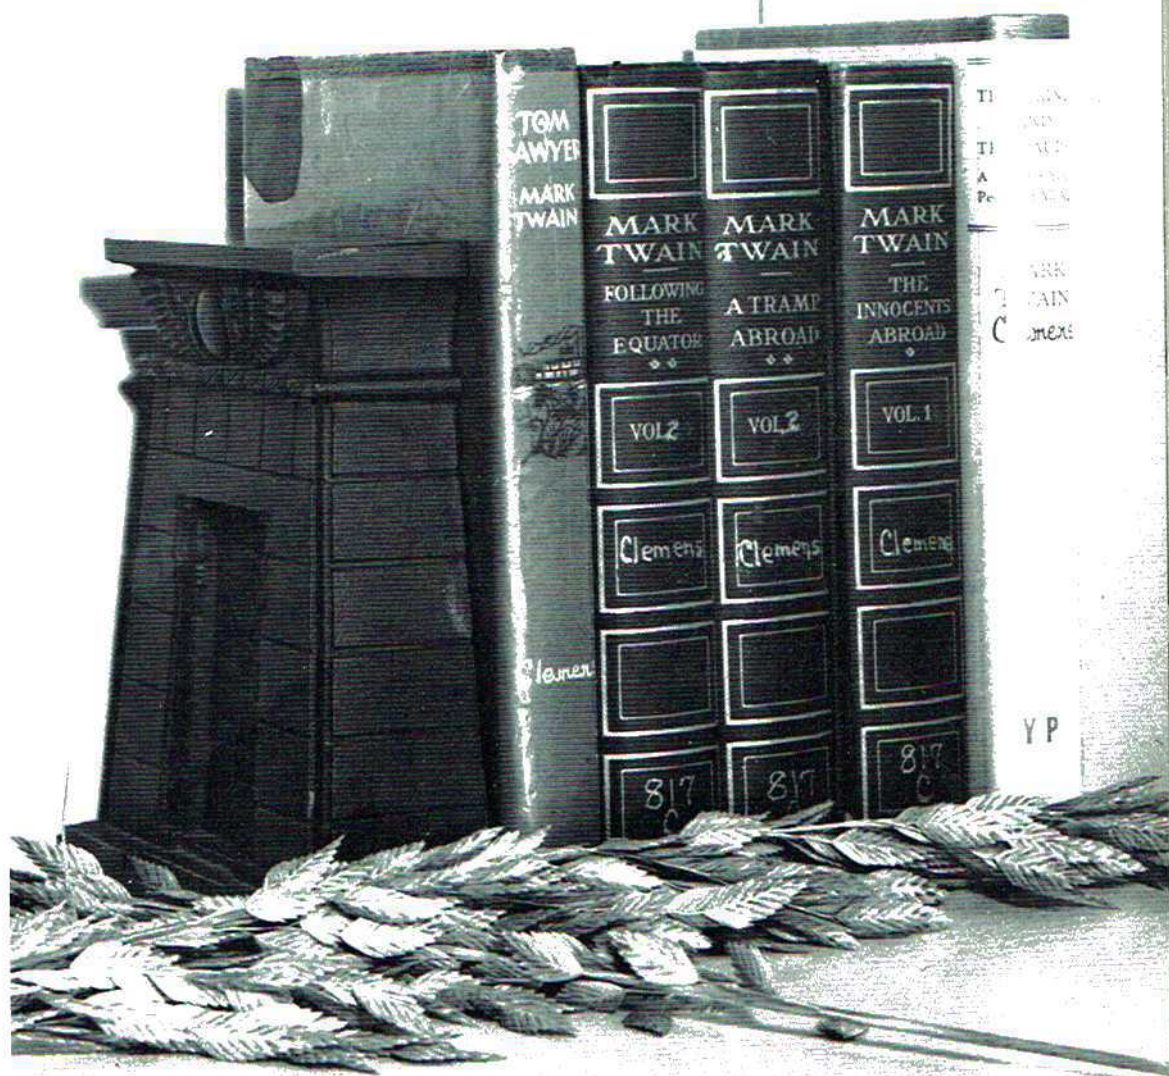

I, Joe Hass, leave all my parts in every play I've ever been in to Thomas Henderson and Edward Harbin.

I, Joan Hall, leave all my old boy friends, except one, to Wanda Fossett.

We, Patsy Dean and Glenda Hodges, leave our trim "figures" to Charlotte Gentles.
